

On April 15, 2009 UNC Chapel Hill held their annual presentation of Chancellor's awards. During this ceremony three APPLES students were recognized with student activity awards.

Senior Charlie McGeehan received the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, an award given out to students who have demonstrated unselfish interest in human welfare. The emphasis of this award is on humanitarian contribution.

Senior Casey Beckner received the Cornelius O. Gathey Award, an award established in memory of Cornelius O. Gathey. This award is given annually to a student who has made the greatest contribution to the quality of campus life through sustained constructive participation in established student programs, or through creative, persistent effort in development of new student programs.

Junior Sam Wurzelmann received the Robert B. House Distinguished Service Award. This award is presented to the undergraduate who best exemplifies the spirit of unselfish commitment through service to the university and surrounding community.
