

NEW NUS DEGREE FOR ARTS AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

Students interested in the Arts and Social Sciences will soon have another degree option. The National University of Singapore (NUS) is launching a new Bachelor of Arts degree programme, in collaboration with the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (UNCCH) in the US. This joint degree programme will offer a choice of majors including Economics, English Literature, Geography, and Political Science. NUS students get a chance to spend between two to five semesters at UNCCH. They will be awarded with a degree certified by both institutions at the end of four years. Classes for this new programme will start in July, with an initial intake of eight to 10 students from each university. — 938 LIVE