OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALIST KRISTINE LILLY JOINS STUDENTS TO CELEBRATE RESULTS OF GET KIDS IN ACTION PILOT STUDY

More than 150 Hillsborough Elementary and Pathways Third Graders Visit UNC Campus for Special Physical Activity Session

WHAT: Kristine Lilly, gold medalist at the 2004 Summer Olympic Games, will lead a team of student athletes from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill to celebrate with more than 150 third-grade students who participated in a new pilot study to achieve the recommended 60 minutes of physical activity per day. This pilot study, part of the Get Kids in Action partnership between UNC and The Gatorade Company, brought Carolina student-athletes into classrooms for the past six weeks to inspire children to make physical activity part of their daily routine.

WHO:
- Kristine Lilly, Olympic gold medalist in women’s soccer and UNC graduate
- More than 150 third-grade students from Hillsborough Elementary and Pathways Elementary, both in Hillsborough.
- Up to 20 student-athletes from UNC, representing 10 sports
- Dick Baddour, director, UNC Department of Athletics
- Dr. Dianne Ward, professor of nutrition, UNC School of Public Health, and director of research for Get Kids in Action

WHEN: Monday, December 6, 2004
11 a.m.

WHERE: Smith Field House
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
100C Ridge Rd.
(behind Henry Stadium)

CONTACT: Adam Tanielian, 312.751.3531 or 312.485.0076 (cell)
Dana Gelin, Dept. of Athletics, 919.962.0083 or dgelin@uncaa.unc.edu
Emily Smith, UNC School of Public Health, 919.966.8498 or 919.218.4359 (cell)

###