

LAC Workshop, Spring 2007
A Selection of Visual Arts Teaching Resources at UNC
Jonathan Risner, UNC-CH LAC Instructor

The Ackland Art Museum is located on UNC's campus and has a wealth of materials, including photographs, drawings, sculptures, and paintings. To schedule a class visit to the Ackland, one may contact the Ackland's University Educator, Carolyn Allmendinger:

919.962.3343 (Voice)
919.962.0837 (Text Telephone)
919.966.1400 (Fax)
carolyn@email.unc.edu

The Ackland Art Museum's website: <http://www.ackland.org/index.php>

Institute of Latin American Studies (ILAS) is located in the Global Education Center on the corner of Pittsboro and McCauley streets. ILAS has an outstanding collection of films, both documentaries and feature films. One may search ILAS film collection online at:

http://www.ilas.unc.edu/film/films\_main.asp

The Center for European Studies (CES) is also located in the Global Education Center and has teaching resources center that includes a vast collection of European films. The teaching resources center may be viewed online at:

<http://www.unc.edu/depts/europe/teachingresources/index.htm>

Media Resources Center (MRC) is located in the Undergraduate Library and is yet another great resource for films. One may search the MRC's collection online at:

<http://www.lib.unc.edu/house/mrc/>