

World View

An International Program for Educators

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Community College Fall Symposium

November 15-16, 2006

“Traveling throughout Asia showed me that if North Carolina –and America as a whole—if we don’t wake up and get more of our own people better educated, we are going to be a second-rate power in America and here in North Carolina before we know it. I’m not talking about in 50 years. I’m talking about in my lifetime. I’m talking about in your lifetime.”

UNC President Erskine Bowles

(University Day at UNC at Chapel Hill; October 12, 2006)

“Ours is a world of 24-hour news cycles, global markets, and high-speed Internet. We need to look no further than our morning paper to see that our future, and the future of our students, is inextricably linked to the complex challenges of the global community. And for our students to be prepared to take their place in that world and rise to those challenges, they must first understand it.”

US Secretary of Education (2003)

“The forces for change facing the world could be so far-reaching, complex, and interactive that they call for nothing less than the reeducation of humankind.”

Paul Kennedy

Preparing for the Twenty-First Century (1992)

“Human history becomes more and more a race between education and catastrophe.”

H.G. Wells (1951)

World View

An International Program for Educators

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Community College Fall Symposium

November 15-16, 2006