

KOREAN STUDIES LINKS:

David Jones

Center for the Development of Asian Studies

The following materials may be of use to instructors addressing Korea in the classroom:

Course Models and Resource Guides:

Using Korean Literature as the content for a Freshman English Composition Course: Goals beyond those required for freshman composition include helping students: to recognize similarities and understand differences between traditional Western literature and Korean literature, to learn more about the culture, history, and customs of Korea through the literature, to develop recognition of how artists, particularly writers, make sense of their world through literature.

<http://library.kcc.hawaii.edu/external/asdp/lit/easian/korea/eng1213.html>

On-Line bibliography of Korean History:

<http://www2.hawaii.edu/korea/bibliography/biblio.htm>

Interactive Map of South Korea

<http://www.usc.edu/dept/LAS/EASC/eaol/korea/>

Jump Start Publications:

Mark Clifford, Troubled Tiger (M.E.Sharpe, 1994). Bruce Cumings, Korea's Place in the Sun (Norton,1997). Bruce Cumings, "Time to End the Korean War," Atlantic Magazine, January 1997. Don Oberdorfer, The Two Koreas: A Contemporary History (Addison-Wesley,1997).

Newspapers:

Korea Herald (daily newspaper from Seoul) <http://www.koreaherald.co.kr>

Korea Web Weekly (excellent resource on all aspects of North and South Korea)

<http://www.kimsoft.com/korea.htm>

Korea in Literature: Using Korean Literature to recognize similarities and > understand differences between traditional Western literature and Korean literature, to learn more about the culture, history, and customs of Korea through the literature, to develop recognition of how artists, particularly writers, make sense of their world through literature.

<http://library.kcc.hawaii.edu/external/asdp/lit/easian/korea/eng1213.html>

Organizations

Asia Pacific Center for Justice and Peace

110 Maryland Avenue, NE, Box 70

Washington, DC 20002

Contact: Kathryn Johnson Voice: (202) 543-1094

Email: apcjp@igc.apc.org

Japan Policy Research Institute

2138 Via Tiempo

Cardiff, CA 92007

Contact: Chalmers Johnson Voice: (619) 944-3950 Email: cjohnson@uscs.edu

Korean American Peace Institute

PO Box 331

Ridgefield Park, NJ 07660

Contact: Paul Kim Voice: (201) 440-6975 Email: kcc@igc.apc.org

Korean Confederation of Trade Unions

Contact: Yoon Young-Mo, International Secretary Voice: (011) 822-3673-0685

Korean Report

Contact: Hyuk-Kyo Suh Email: Kirc@igc.org

Pacific Asia Resource Center

PO Box 5250

Tokyo International, Japan

Voice: (011) 81-3291-4901 Fax: (011) 81-3-3292-2437 Email: parc@twics.com