Triumph's Rocket III goes where no motorcycle has gone before, exceeding every benchmark set by all other motorcycles. The mold was broken when this bike was created. The Rocket III was the first bike to break the two-liter barrier. It will accelerate faster than pretty much anything else on two wheels. Triumph has struck a balance with the Rocket III, managing power and control, making this bike a surprisingly easy-to-manage machine. The Rocket III is the ride of a lifetime. Simply put, it's the biggest and most impressive production motorcycle the world has seen.
