

progress

to meet destiny's fate somewhere on the road to anywhere, to get nowhere sooner rather than later, to circle around on a straight path, to move forward while going backward, to search for the invisible sign, to illuminate a vision of darkness, to gaze upon the mirror of the unseen, to fix an image in the blink of an eye, to arrest the transience of eternity, to expand in a finite space, to progress in a race without time, to prolong a temporary process, to expect the all of a sudden,
to reflect upon the past tomorrow, to advance modern theories of antiquated ideas, to remember forgotten ideals in retrospect, to experiment something old anew, to begin to forgo bygone conclusions, to recover a sense of loss, to resurrect the memory of the living dead,
to trace the roots of broken branches, to champion the battles of the defeated, to enable the powerless through force, to be all that one cannot be,
to make the most of less,
to work harder for greater comfort, to walk far in another man's shoes, to have in order not to be had,
to promote alternatives with singular resolve, to unite under various banners, to raise the awareness of ignorance, to act in utter indifference, to affect causes with effects, to moralize a code without ethics, to enact discipline through punishment, to suspect innocence until proven guilty, to minimize the threat of maximum security, to not tolerate intolerance but conform to nonconformity, to memorialize the crumbling walls of decadence, to erect the pillars of a fallen civilization, to lay the foundations for future ruins, to save a condemned world from judgment, to establish a momentary movement, to subvert the order of disorder, to convert to a faith in hypocrisy, to justify the right to be wrong, to praise the scorn of foolish elders, to dive headlong into the shallow depths of reason, to realize the absurdity of reality, to doubt a certain uncertainty, to totally relativize each and every absolute, to believe in a rational skepticism, to divine the truth about mystery, to think much about not thinking too much,

to answer questions by questioning answers, to grasp everything with empty hands, to make nothing out of something,
to imagine an end to creation, to materialize the ideal in spirit, to speak in unspeakable tongues, to communicate the medium of perception, to voice an expression of silence, to enlighten the shadows of experience, to heighten the pitfalls of existence, to transcend the bond of the beyond, to form God in the image and likeness of man, to find the meaning of a meaningless life meaningful,
to observe the impossibility of possibilities, to strive in vain to try to fail.