

Patrick J. W. Egan

Current Position: Visiting Assistant Professor
Tulane University
Department of Political Science
316 Norman Mayer Building
New Orleans, LA 70118

Department Phone: (504) 865-5166
Mobile Phone: (504) 615-3390
Department Fax: (504) 862-8745
Email: pegan1@tulane.edu
Homepage: www.unc.edu/~pecan

Ph.D. Candidate
University of North Carolina
Department of Political Science

Education

B.S. Foreign Service, Georgetown University, 1999

Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service

Ph.D. Political Science, University of North Carolina, 2011 (expected)

Committee: Evelyne Huber (advisor), Jonathan Hartlyn, Layna Mosley,
Gary Gereffi (Duke), and John French (Duke)

Dissertation: Governing Development - Foreign Direct Investment and the State in Brazil

Teaching and Research Fields

International Political Economy, Brazilian Politics, Latin American and European Politics, International Relations

Research

REFEREED PUBLICATIONS

Hard Bargains: The Impact of Multinational Corporations on Economic Reform in Latin America. Latin American Politics and Society 52: 1 (Spring 2010), pp.1-32

Is Worker Repression Risky? Foreign Direct Investment, Labor Rights, and Assessments of Risk in Developing Countries. Conditionally accepted, October 2010, to Review of International Political Economy

WORKING PAPERS

Postindustrial Transitions: FDI, Informality, and Inequality in Latin America (with Juan Bogliaccini). Undergoing Revisions

Conditioning Capitalism: Linking State Agency and Domestic Spillovers from Multinational Investment in the Developing World. Undergoing Revisions

Conference Presentations

Postindustrial Transitions: FDI, Informality, and Inequality in Latin America (with Juan Bogliaccini). American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, Toronto, September 2009

Do State Institutions Impact the Research and Development Activities of Multinational Firms in Developing Countries? Evidence from Brazil. American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, Toronto, September 2009

The Politics of Foreign Direct Investment in Brazil. Latin American Studies Association International Congress, Rio de Janeiro, June 2009

Conditioning Capitalism: Multinational Enterprise and Latin American States. Southern Political Science Association Annual Conference, New Orleans, January 2009

Attracting the Locusts? The Politics of Foreign Direct Investment in Brazil. Conference of the Midwest Political Science Association, Chicago, April 2008

Taking the Plunge: Politics, Labor Regimes, and Perceptions of Investment Risk for Multinational Enterprises Operating in Less Developed Countries. Workshop on Multinational Production and Labor Rights, Chapel Hill, September 2006

The Economic Determinants of Civil War Intervention (with Reed Wood and Christine Carpino). Conference of the Midwest Political Science Association, Chicago, April 2006

Testing the Obsolescing Bargain Hypothesis of Multinational Enterprise - Host Country Interaction in Latin America. Conference of Duke/UNC Consortium in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, Durham/Chapel Hill, February 2006

Honors & Awards

FELLOWSHIPS

Mellon Dissertation Fellowship for Latin American/Caribbean Research, summer 2009. Granted by the Institute for the Study of the Americas

Humane Studies Fellowship Honorable Mention, 2009. Granted by the Institute for Humane Studies

Graduate School Fellowship for off-campus dissertation research at Fundacao Getulio Vargas in Sao Paulo, Brazil, spring 2008. Granted by the University of North Carolina

US Department of Education Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowship (FLAS). Salvador, Brazil, summer 2005. Intensive advanced Portuguese language study, affiliated with the University of Texas at Austin

Departmental Teaching Fellowship, UNC Department of Political Science, 2004-2009

TRAVEL AWARDS

Thomas Uhlman Travel Grant for presentation of research at American Political Science Association Annual Meeting, 2009

Mellon Conference Travel Grant for presentation of research at Latin American Studies Association International Congress, 2009

Graduate School Travel Grant for presentation of research at Southern Political Science Association annual meeting, 2009

Departmental Travel Grant for presentation of research at Midwest Political Science Association annual meeting, 2008

Duke/UNC Consortium in Latin American Studies Graduate Travel Grant to Brazil, 2005

Teaching

TULANE UNIVERSITY, DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE, 2010-2011

Visiting Assistant Professor: International Political Economy, International Relations, Latin American Politics

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE, 2004-2009

Instructor: Introduction to International Relations, Introduction to European Government, and Introduction to Latin American Politics

KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY, 2007

Instructor: Introduction to Latin American Politics (online course)

METROPOLITAN STATE COLLEGE OF DENVER, 2004

Adjunct Professor: Introduction to International Relations and Freshman Seminar

Other Academic and Professional Experience

UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, 2004-2009

Coordinator, Transatlantic Masters Program/Center for European Studies Friday Lecture Series, 2004-2007

Coordinator, Duke/UNC Working Group on Political and Economic Regimes in Latin America, 2006-2007

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, 2001

Assistant to the Management Team, Overseas Studies Program

AMERICORPS, 2000

National Civilian Community Corps volunteer, year of national service

Professional Associations, Service, and Training

REFEREE SERVICE

Referee, Latin American Politics and Society

PROFESSIONAL MEMBERSHIPS

American Political Science Association, Midwest Political Science Association, Southern Political Science Association, Latin American Studies Association, Brazilian Studies Association

METHODOLOGICAL TRAINING

Ordinary Least Squares Estimation, Maximum Likelihood Estimation, Game Theory, Time Series Estimation

Short Courses on Fuzzy Set/Qualitative Comparative Analysis, Geographic Information Systems (GIS)

R, Stata, LaTeX

LANGUAGES

Portuguese (advanced), Spanish (competent), French (reading)

References

Evelyn Huber
Morehead Alumni Professor of Political Science
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265
(919) 962-3381
huber@unc.edu

Jonathan Hartlyn
Kenneth J. Reckford Distinguished Professor of Political Science
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265
(919) 962-0423
hartlyn@unc.edu

Layna Mosley
Associate Professor of Political Science
University of North Carolina
Chapel Hill, NC 27599-3265
(919) 962-0416
mosley@unc.edu