Our Commitment: Taking Action and Moving Forward Together

A guide to review, response and reform at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Welcome to Carolina Commitment – on this website, we provide information on previous and current reforms at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill as we work diligently to ensure academic irregularities do not, and will not, happen again on our campus. As we continue making progress, we will be sure to share updates with our Carolina community. Read more on the chart to the left about the actions, initiatives and reforms that have already been implemented.

For information about the 2014 independent inquiry conducted by Kenneth Wainstein of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP, please see the following resources. We encourage visitors to read the full report.

- Full copy of the Investigation of Irregular Classes in the Department of African and Afro-American Studies at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
- Video of Oct. 22 news conference
- News conference press release
- Frequently Asked Questions

Actions & Initiatives

We have already instituted many reforms across the University, and we are continuing to look for ways to improve. Click here to find summaries of existing reforms.

Updates

UNC-Chapel Hill Statement Regarding Personnel Records

December 31, 2014

Just over two months ago, in connection with the issuance of the report by Kenneth Wainstein of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft LLP on past academic irregularities at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the University pledged its full commitment to restoring trust, continuing to implement a broad range of reforms, and holding individuals accountable based on facts and evidence and consistent with fair process and appropriate respect for their privacy. The University continues to work hard on each of these fronts.