Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing this letter to support the project Aspects in Russian MediaBook developed by Dr Laura Janda. I strongly believe that the project is very topical and its results will find application in many universities world-wide, including Russian higher education institutions.

The project is sure to be a significant contribution to linguistics, since it will provide students and faculty with modern technologies to learn and teach linguistic concepts. The methodology offered by the author looks innovative, efficient in use, and interactive. Its implementation will certainly increase students' interest in linguistics in general and in the Russian language, in particular.

Faithfully,

Yuri A. Zusman, Ph.D.
Associate Professor
Department of English Philology
G.R. Derzhavin Tambov State University
Russia